

Welcome

Since its origin in 1992, Pagnotta Industries Inc. has been a continuously growing presence in the construction management and concrete contracting sector. A personable mid-sized company with a hands-on approach, Pagnotta Industries has quickly become a reputed and respected “go-to” company for high rise projects.

The founder and president, Mario Pagnotta, has had more than forty years of first-hand construction experience. He worked with Forest Construction for twenty years as a General Superintendent on projects that included a large concrete structural component. This experience gave Mario the background needed to start his own company, where he continues to target similar projects.

The Pagnotta management team is directly involved in their projects. Regular on-site visits occur for every project to ensure scheduling, budget, and quality control standards are meeting and exceeding the client’s expectations. Pagnotta Industries values a strong relationship between themselves, the clients, and the sub contractors. These relationships lead to projects being constructed in accordance with client’s demanding expectations. Having a large repertoire of contractors and suppliers allows Pagnotta to meet tight construction schedules in a professional manner.

Pagnotta is a vertically integrated company that can self perform many aspects of a project’s scope of work. With Pagnotta Industries in control, untimely delays in regards to equipment rental are eradicated. Another specialty of the company is concrete contracting and in particular, concrete towers. Formwork equipment and tower crane ownership simplify these projects and allow control of the project from the beginning, which sets a standard of excellence for the other trades to follow. Construction managers and superintendents that are part of the Pagnotta fleet allow for excellent construction management.

Pagnotta Industries values safety and attempts to maintain it at the highest level on all of their sites. With in-house safety officers who look after the sites daily, safety is a state-of-mind at Pagnotta.

Every detail in the construction process is of equal importance. The company believes the elements of hard work and honesty are necessary for success in this competitive business. Selecting Pagnotta to work with you will ensure that from the bottom up, your project is a success. Driven by possibilities, Pagnotta has been successfully changing skylines since 1992.
